One day King Bruce asked Lady Hannah to meet him at the foundation on Monday morning. The next day he made a feast for Hannah so they could speak. Hannah arrived and asked "Hello Sire, whatever is this problem you speak of?" "Well Hannah I have a meeting with the grand warden and I need my magic book back, because the dragon on the top of the rock stole it!" exclaimed the king. "But what can I use Sire?, my sword was destroyed when I killed the Ogre!?" Lady Hannah replied. "Take this, now go!" The king gave Lady Hannah a rusty sword, that didn't really help. Lady Hannah set off on her quest with her sword and her horse, Axelle. Eventually Hannah got to the top of Dragon's rock. Hannah saw a pool of magic slime, she almost fell in! Then, Hannah tripped and her sword fell in, she managed to get it out but now it could speak! THUD! The dragon's red, fiery wing slapped the rock as he landed, got out her sword and started to jab, over and over again. Finally the dragon dropped dead. Hannah grabbed the book and slid down the rock, got on Axelle and galloped all the way back.

Once Hannah got back to the castle she gave the king his swell book and was rewarded with precious gold!
