

Year 2

Contemporary Fiction

The True Story of the 3 Little Pigs
Jon Scieszka

You may think you know the story of the Three Little Pigs and the Big Bad Wolf - but only one person knows the real story. And that person is A. Wolf. His tale starts with a birthday cake for his dear old granny, a bad head cold and a bad reputation. The rest (as they say) is history. A hilariously inventive retelling of the popular story which Publishers Weekly called the 'Funniest book of the year'.

- SIL Reading Reasoning Question pack available
- Great for alternative fairy tales
- Written in a casual, conversational style from the point of view of the wolf
- 1st person throughout
- Picture book

Tuesday
David Wiesner

In this ingenious and imaginative – nearly wordless – picture book, frogs in a pond lift off on their lily pads and fly to a nearby town where they zoom through a woman’s living room, encounter a dog playing in his yard, and distract a bathrobe-clad citizen from his midnight snack. Who knows what will happen next Tuesday?

- Versatile- can be used effectively all the way to Y6 (and beyond!)
- Almost wordless
- Fantasy adventure
- Relationships
- Inference and discussion
- Character development
- Story telling without words

The Dark
Lemony Snicket

An empowering story about conquering your fears, from Lemony Snicket and Jon Klassen. Laszlo is afraid of the dark. The dark lives in the same house as Laszlo but mostly it spends its time in the basement. It doesn't visit Laszlo in his room. Until one night it does . . . Join Lazlo on his journey to meet the dark, and find out why it will never bother him again.

- SIL Reading Reasoning Question pack available
- An unusual book in which the dark is personified
- A lovely book about facing fears
- Non-rhyming text
- Picture book

After the Fall
Dan Sanat

After the fall, Humpty Dumpty is a broken egg. Life is tough: he's so afraid of heights, he can't even bear to climb onto his bed, or reach his favourite cereal on the top shelf at the supermarket. But one day, fuelled by his passion for bird-watching, he decides to conquer his fears and something amazing happens...

- Growth Mindset
- Picture book
- Written in 1st person, from Humpty Dumpty’s point of view
- A story of how, despite his fear, he managed to overcome his terrible accident

Tiny Titans:
Welcome To The Treehouse
 Art Baltazar and Franco

You'll see what life is like for the very young heroes of Sidekick Elementary and learn what could go wrong when the kids of Sidekick Elementary spend an afternoon in the Batcave in this new graphic novel. These all ages tales from the DC Universe, beautifully written and illustrated by Art Baltazar and Franco, will entertain new readers and seasoned fans of comics.

- Fans of Teen Titans and other superhero TV shows will be drawn to this bright and appealing comic
- Familiar characters will appeal to otherwise reluctant readers
- Great addition to the reading area
- Comic strips are fantastic stimulus for SPAG- types of sentences, punctuation etc
- Recommended by Jenny Holder, LLP

Captain Pug
 Laura James and Eglantine Ceulemans

Pug is going on a seafaring adventure. He's had jam tarts for breakfast. He's wearing a smart sailor suit. There's just one problem. Pug is afraid of the water!

- First in a series so great for hooking readers
- Great introduction to chapter books for young readers
- Super addition to reading areas for independent reading
- Recommended by Jenny Holder, LLP

The Tin Forest
 Helen Ward

"There was once a wide, windswept place, near nowhere and close to forgotten that was filled with all the things that no one wanted." So begins Helen Ward's tale of the Tin Forest where an old man lives who tidies the rubbish and dreams of a better place. With faith, ingenuity and hard work, he transforms a junkyard into a wonderland in this poetic modern fable.

- Versatile- can be used effectively up to Y6
- Picture book.
- Contains important lessons about caring for the environment
- Poetic language and vocabulary
- Beautiful illustrations that capture both sadness and hope

The Flower
 John Light and Lisa Evans

Brigg lives in a small, grey room in a large, grey city. When he finds a book in the library labelled 'Do Not Read', he cannot resist taking it home. John Light's enigmatic story is told with utter simplicity, but resonates long after we finish reading this book. His increasingly optimistic vision is hauntingly captured by Lisa Evans's beautiful and whimsical illustrations.

- Themes of environment, responsibility and community
- Picture book
- Set in a bleak future where flowers no longer exist.
- Links well with 'The Tin Forest'

Amazing Grace
Mary Hoffman

Grace loves stories, whether they're from books, movies, or the kind her grandmother tells. So when she gets a chance to play a part in Peter Pan, she knows exactly who she wants to be.

- SIL Reading Reasoning Question pack available
- Lovely picture book with a good balance of text and illustrations
- Themes of dreams, aspirations and self-belief
- Non-rhyming text

The Day War Came
Nicola Davies
Rebecca Cobb

Imagine if, on an ordinary day, war came. Imagine it turned your town to rubble. Imagine going on a long and difficult journey – all alone. Imagine finding no welcome at the end of it. Then imagine a child who gives you something small but very, very precious...
When the government refused to allow 3000 child refugees to enter this country in 2016, Nicola Davies was so angry she wrote a poem. It started a campaign for which artists contributed drawings of chairs,

- Picture book
- Poetic narrative
- Follows a heart-breaking, but hopeful, story of a refugee
- Very deep, emotional messages
- Great for P4C lessons and for getting children to ask questions about what they are reading

The Book With No Pictures
B.J. Novak

You might think a book with no pictures seems boring and serious. Except . . . here's how books work. Everything written on the page has to be said by the person reading it aloud. Even if the words say . . .
BLORK. Or BLUURF. And even if the words include things like BLAGGITY BLAGGITY and MY HEAD IS MADE OF BLUEBERRY PIZZA!
That's the rule. That's the deal.
Brilliantly irreverent and very, very silly, The Book With No Pictures will delight children.

- An unusual book for children which contains no pictures
- Great for visualisation
- Ideal for rehearsal of expression
- Very humorous, silly book that children will love

The Day the Crayons Quit
Drew Daywalt and Oliver Jeffers

Author Drew Daywalt and international bestseller Oliver Jeffers team up to create a colourful solution to a crayon-based crisis in this playful, imaginative story that will have children laughing and playing with their crayons in a whole new way.

Poor Duncan just wants to colour in. But when he opens his box of crayons, he only finds letters, all saying the same thing: We quit.

- A versatile text that can be used in any year group
- Written in 1st person letters from the point of view of the crayons
- Compare and contrast with 'The Crayon Box that Talked' by Shane Derolf
- Picture book

Grandad's Island
Benji Davies

This beautiful book deals with the emotional topic of losing a grandparent. Subtly told, this beautifully illustrated book tackles a difficult subject with great sensitivity and depth.

- A sensitive book about the death of a loved one- dealt with through a metaphor
- Beautiful imagery and illustrations capture children's imaginations
- Links well to 'Badger's Parting Gifts' by Susan Varley if used when supporting grief
- Picture book

A Stone for Sascha
Aaron Becker

This year's summer holiday will be very different for a young girl and her family without Sascha, the beloved family dog, along for the ride. But a walk along the beach to gather cool, polished stones becomes a brilliant turning point in the girl's grief. There, at the edge of a vast ocean beneath an infinite sky, she uncovers, alongside the reader, a profound and joyous truth...

- Wordless picture book
- Exceptional illustrations
- Deals with loss and grief- after the loss of a pet
- Images show changes over time to the Earth- including civilisations
- A book that could also be used very well in KS2

The Tear Thief
Carol Ann Duffy

Each night, in the hours between supper and bedtime, the Tear Thief carries her waterproof, silvery sack as she steals the tears of every child who cries. But what does she do with all those tears? This warm, poignant and beautifully illustrated story offers a thought-provoking message and a starting point for sharing children's emotional responses.

- Picture book
- Explores children's emotions- and shows that tears can be for many different reasons
- A beautifully written and illustrated book that is peaceful, calm and thought provoking

My Name is Not Refugee
Kate Milner

A young boy discusses the journey he is about to make with his mother. They will leave their town, she explains, and it will be sad but also a little bit exciting. They will have to say goodbye to friends and loved ones, and that will be difficult. They will have to walk and walk and walk, and although they will see many new and interesting things, it will be difficult at times too. A powerful and moving exploration that draws the young reader into each stage of the journey, inviting the chance to imagine the decisions he or she would make.

- Picture book
- Beautiful illustrations
- An emotive story about a journey of a family through the child's eyes
- Empowering and honest
- Contains rhetorical questions throughout which are great for further discussion

Rosie Revere, Engineer
Andrea Beatty

We love this story featuring a girl called Rosie who has a passion for inventing and a dream of becoming a famous engineer. Along the way Rosie must learn how to respond to mistakes. When one of her inventions crashes to the ground, Rosie must choose between giving up on her dreams or listening to her Great-Great-Aunt's wise advice about embracing mistakes positively and using them to learn something new.

- Growth Mindset- an ideal book to teach the importance of failures
- Great for promoting STEAM
- Rhyming book
- Other books available including the same characters

I Was a Rat!
(Or The Scarlet Slippers)
Philip Pullman

'I WAS A RAT!' insists Roger. Maybe it's true. But what is he NOW? 'A terrifying monster rampaging in the sewers?' The Daily Scourge is sure of it. Or just an ordinary small boy, though a little ratty in his habits? Only three people believe this version of the story. Only one of them knows who Roger really is.

- Narrative
- One to read aloud with the children
- Ambitious vocabulary
- A rework of the traditional Cinderella story
- Endearing, fun central character

How Tom Beat Captain Najork and his Hired Sportsmen
Russell Hoban and Quentin Blake

Tom loves to fool around. He fools around with dropping things from bridges into rivers and he fools around with barrels in alleys. He fools around so much that his aunt, Miss Fidget Wonkham-Strong (who wears an iron hat and takes no nonsense from anyone), sends for Captain Najork and his hired sportsmen to teach Tom a lesson. It turns out not to be Tom who gets taught a lesson after all!

- Recommended by Aidan Chambers
- Contains nonsense words
- Main character is silly- but a hero
- Narrative with illustrations

Du Iz Tak?
Carson Ellis

In her follow-up to the internationally acclaimed Home, Carson Ellis invites readers to imagine the dramatic possibilities to be found in a garden, where insects talk their own mysterious language... With gorgeous, exquisitely-detailed illustration that will appear to children and art-lovers alike, and a wonderfully playful invented language, we soon find ourselves speaking "Bug" ... Du iz tak? What is that?

- A great book for children to rehearse decoding skills
- Bugs talk in their own language- ideal for children to translate using inference from images
- Picture book

The Lion and the Mouse
Jerry Pinkney

A stunning, wordless version of one of Aesop's best-loved fables. The fable is a favourite and familiar one: a mouse inadvertently disturbs a lion, who lets the mouse go ... and is later himself freed by the mouse from a poacher's trap. With art inspired by the Kenyan Serengeti, Jerry Pinkney's jaw-droppingly gorgeous interpretation is irresistible.

- Wordless picture book
- Exceptional illustrations
- Great for vocabulary development and oral rehearsal

Once upon an Ordinary School Day
Colin Naughton

It was an ordinary morning when the ordinary boy woke up, and it was an ordinary journey to school - but then Mr Gee bounced into the classroom and everything changed. Mr Gee plays rousing music which thunders around the classroom, and asks what it makes them think of. The dull grey world has been transformed into one of colour and excitement. 'Write a story about it!' laughs Mr Gee. And the ordinary boy began to write: the words just tumbled out of him pell-mell. And the places he went to, and the things he saw were extraordinary!

- Picture book
- Pictures begin colourless and dull and become colourful and vibrant as the story goes on- to represent the power of imagination
- Lovely message about the importance of music
- Compare with 'The Wonder'

The Wonder
Faye Hanson

This is a story about a boy whose head is always full of wonder. We follow him on an average-seeming school day, where his daydreams transform the world around him. Unfortunately lots of other people - the park keeper, the bus driver, the lollipop lady - all tell him to get his head out of the clouds. It is only in art class that he realises he can bring the wonder out of his head for the whole world to enjoy.

- Picture book
- Pictures begin colourless and dull and become colourful and vibrant as the story goes on- to represent the power of imagination
- Compare with 'Once Upon an Ordinary School Day'

The Diary of a Killer Cat
Anne Fine

Poor Ellie is horrified when Tuffy drags a dead bird into the house. Then a mouse. But Tuffy can't understand what all the fuss is about.

Who on earth will be the next victim to arrive through the cat-flap? Can soft-hearted Ellie manage to get her beloved pet to change his wild, wild ways before he ends up in even deeper trouble?

- Chapter book
- Series of diary entries written from point of view of a cat

A Bear Called Paddington
Michael Bond

"A bear on Paddington Station?" said Mrs Brown in amazement. "Don't be silly – there can't be." The Browns first met Paddington on a railway station – Paddington station, in fact. He had travelled all the way from Darkest Peru with only a jar of marmalade, a suitcase and his hat. The Browns soon find that Paddington is a very unusual bear. Ordinary things – like having a bath, travelling underground or going to the seaside become quite extraordinary, if a bear called Paddington is involved.

- Opportunity to explore immigration and refugees
- Link to recent film will appeal to reluctant readers
- Great for building empathy

The Great Fire of London:
Anniversary Edition of the Great
Fire of 1666
Emma Adams and
James Weston Lewis

The Great Fire of London is a hauntingly beautiful visual re-telling of one of the most well-known disasters in the city's history. Lewis's drawings take readers on a journey, from the single smouldering coal that falls out of the baker's oven to the swirling clouds of ash that engulf the city and then in to the very heart of the fire itself. As the pages turn, you can witness London burning to the ground and then rebuilding again. Children will love examining the rich detail of each spread.

- Illustrated non-fiction book
- A great non-fiction text to share with the children
- Includes detailed illustrations and maps which are historically accurate.

Surprising Sharks
Nicola Davies and James
Cockroft

The last word you want to hear when you're swimming in the warm blue sea is "Shark!" But most real sharks are not what you might expect. Some are no bigger than a chocolate bar, some have built-in fairy lights and most wouldn't go near a human, even if you were wearing a sign saying "dinner"! So if you think all sharks are giant, man-eating killers, you're in for a big surprise.

- Fascinating facts on a creature that is often popular with children
- Well-labelled diagrams - a great model for pupil's own non-fiction texts with diagrams
- Great illustrations of different types of sharks
- Perfect for reading areas
- Recommended by Jenny Holder, LLP

Steve Backshall's Deadly 60

From lethal beauties to killer beasts, from the unseen to the unexpected, the one thing these creatures have in common is that they are all deadly to other animals. Steve Backshall's encounters range from famous killers such as the Black Mamba and the North American Grizzly Bear to less well known but no less deadly animals.

- Traditionally formatted non-fiction book, jam packed with facts and photographs
- Each creature has two page spread – great for analysis like text-marking
